Welcome to Volk Field Air National Guard Base, it is our pleasure to welcome you to the Combat Readiness Training Center. There are four CRTC's in the nation and we hope to show you why Volk Field stands out as the premier choice for our visitors.

The origin of the Volk Field can be traced back to 1888 when the State Adjutant General, General Chandler Chapman, purchased a site for a rifle range and offered it to the state for a camp. In 1957, the Wisconsin Legislature officially designated the facility a Permanent Field Training Site and named it in memory of 1st Lieutenant Jerome A. Volk, the first Wisconsin Air National Guard pilot killed in combat in the Korean War.

Volk Field stands by our mission to "Provide a year round integrated training environment for units to enhance their combat capabilities and readiness." With that in mind if there is anything that you need during your stay at Volk Field ANGB, please do not hesitate to contact us with any billeting issue or with any general questions or concerns.

Our commitment to excellence in all we do proves that we are the number one choice for all units, whether your visit is for a conference or training. There is no other way to get the great service for pennies on the dollar, as you get from a CRTC and Volk Field wants to be your foremost CRTC for this visit and many more to come in the future.

Attached in this welcome binder are various informational guides to help your stay at Volk Field be as pleasant as if you were home. So think of us as your second home and do not worry about a thing, just focus on the task at hand and complete your mission and we will take care of everything else.

Enjoy your time at Volk Field and do not hesitate to contact my staff for anything you may need, you are the reason we are here and we want to show you how much you mean to us.

We hope you enjoy your stay with us. On the following pages we have compiled some information that has been frequently asked of us. Hopefully this will answer most of your questions – if not, please feel free to call or stop in at the front desk in Building 475. Our office hours are 7:30am–4pm Monday through Friday. Our telephone extensions are: 427-1249, 427-1754 & 427-1053.

The Wisconsin National Guard Museum, Bldg. 101, it is affectionately known as "The Log Cabin". It was built in 1917 as an Officer's Club, and was used for that purpose until 1983. It now houses historical exhibits portraying the history of the Wisconsin Army and Air National Guard, and the famed 32nd "Red Arrow" Division. It is the oldest building on the base.

The P-51D (S/N 44-72989) on display came from the Minnesota Air National Guard, 109 Fighter Interceptor Squadron, and is alleged to have been flown by Astronaut Donald "Deke" Slayton, from Sparta, Wisconsin, while a member of that unit.

The F-86 is the USAF's first swept wing jet fighter. It made its initial flight on October 1, 1947.

The A-7D was a single-seat aircraft designed specifically for the Close Air Support mission during the Vietnam Era.

On behalf of the Safety Office, welcome to Volk Field ANGB. The mission of Base Safety is to assist you in achieving a SAFE visit at Volk Field. Volk Field and the surrounding areas offer many fun activities to do. The safety office asks that you practice good Risk Management. Contact the Safety office at 427-1230 if you have questions on safety issues.

To ensure you have a safe visit, here is your Local Condition Brief to familiarize you with the surrounding area, the base and the environment that you are staying in.

Surrounding area: The surrounding area does not have any area that is restricted for military personnel. The local communities are big supporters to the military. There are also no high traffic areas that you would need to avoid while staying at Volk Field. If there is a status change and areas become restricted there will be a posting in building 475 and your chain of command will notified so that they can inform you.

The Base:

The base speed limit is 25 MPH unless otherwise posted and 10 MPH around troops. No cell phone usage on base while driving unless it is hands free. Wisconsin has a "no text while driving law" and Seat belt usage is mandatory on and off base. No riding in back of pickup trucks without a waver (Waiver applies to military trucks only) and your Commander must accept the risk.

Most of local communities have taxi cab services that will bring you to the gate if you have been drinking. The Maximum blood alcohol level is .08 in Wisconsin. Security will not hesitate to pull you over at the gate if they smell alcohol.

Motorcycle driving operations on base: You must have a valid motorcycle license, must have completed motorcycle safety training, wear DOT helmet, glasses or shield, gloves, & bright upper garment—long sleeve, and long pants.

Bicyclists will wear helmets and a highly visible outer garment during the day and outer garment containing retro-reflective material at night.

The use of portable headphones, earphones, cellular phones, iPods, or other listening and entertainment devices (other than hearing aids) are allowed on the sidewalks and running paths at Volk Field. You must stay within the crosswalks. Wearing these devices on roadways is not authorized or compliant with the Air force Traffic Safety Program.

Local Environmental Conditions: Weather is always changing from rain, sleet, snow, hail, high winds to humidity and heat. You never know what driving conditions you may encounter. When there is snow and ice on the road, be a defensive driver and allow extra time to get from point A to point B. In spring, summer and fall, road construction is going on. Be aware of construction workers.

Volk Field is nestled in the woods and out in the country, you may have the opportunity to see wildlife. There are deer, coyotes, turkeys, squirrels and skunks that cohabitate with us at Volk Field. The wildlife is accustomed to us so take extra time when driving vehicles around them and please don't feed them.

Ticks and Mosquitos also like it here so if you are in the tall grass or behind the bluff make sure you are checking for ticks. Contact Medical personnel if a target-shaped redness appears on skin or if "flu-like" symptoms present themselves. Mosquitos like to come out at dawn and dusk. Wear light colored clothing, avoid tall grass and, if needed, use bug spray.

Tobacco Use (IAW AFI 40-102 and AFI 40-102 VFS1, Tobacco Use in the Air Force)

- The determined tobacco free boundaries around the base medical aid station will be 250 feet in all directions around building 402.
- Volk Field has identified Designated Tobacco Areas (DTAs) (see attachment 1 of this supplement).
- All season DTAs (indicated on the map as AS) will remain open throughout the year. The remaining DTAs will be closed from 01 November until 30 April.
- DTAs shall be away from common points of facility entry/egress and not in front of buildings or air intake ducts. The distance of a DTA from building entry/egress is to be determined by the squadron commander but will be no less than 50 feet.
- DTAs shall be a minimum of 50 feet from pedestrian walkways, to include parking lots, to prevent secondhand smoke exposure to passersby.
- Tobacco users are responsible for keeping DTAs clean and free of snow.
- Civil Engineering will be responsible for providing shovels and ice melt containers to the all season DTAs. Individual users will be responsible for obtaining the ice melt from Civil Engineering.

Billeting Fire Prevention Rules (IAW Volk Field CRTC Instruction 32-102, Fire Prevention and Protection)

- No smoking in buildings to include bedrooms.
- The following appliances are not allowed in rooms: Portable Heaters, Hot Plates, Extension Cords, Toasters. Please note, these appliances may be allowed in the day rooms at the discretion of the Fire Chief.
- Only Volk Field provided appliances, such as coffee makers and microwaves, should be used in the dormitories.
- Tampering with the fire protection or detection systems is a punishable offense.
- 911 is for emergencies only. This line will not be used to initiate exercises. The fire department can be reached for non-emergencies at 427-1317 or 427-1417.
- Flammable liquids and/or flammable gases will not be stored in dormitories.

Terrorism is defined as: The calculated use of violence, or the threat of violence, to inculcate fear; intended to coerce or intimidate governments or societies in the pursuit of goals that are generally political, religious, or ideological. (DoD Definition)

Although this is only a brief overview, this information will help increase your awareness and possibly aid military members, as well as local and federal law enforcement, in preemptively dealing with terrorism.

What to Report

Surveillance: Someone recording or monitoring activities. This may include the use of cameras (either still or video), note taking, drawing diagrams, annotating on maps or using binoculars or other vision-enhancing devices.

Elicitation: People or organizations attempting to gain information about military operations, capabilities, or people. Examples could include being asked about what's happening at the base; getting troop strength numbers or the number of airplanes on base.

Tests of security: Any attempts to measure reaction times to security breaches or to penetrate physical security barriers or procedures in order to assess strengths and weaknesses. Example: A person grabs the base fence and shakes it and sees how long it takes for police to respond.

Acquiring Supplies: Purchasing or stealing explosives, weapons, ammunition, detonators, timers, etc. Also includes acquiring military uniforms, decals, flight manuals, passes or badges (or the equipment to manufacture such items) or any other controlled items.

Suspicious Persons Out of Place: People who don't seem to belong in the workplace, neighborhood, business establishment, or anywhere else. This category is hard to define, but the point is that people know what looks right and what doesn't look right in their neighborhoods, office spaces, commutes, etc. If a person just doesn't seem like he or she belongs, there's probably a reason for that.

Dry Run: Putting people into position and moving them around according to their plan without actually committing the terrorist act. An element of this activity could also include mapping out routes and determining the timing of traffic flow. Take note of people moving around from place to place without any apparent purpose and doing it, perhaps, many times.

Deploying Assets: People and supplies getting into position to commit the act. This is your last opportunity to alert authorities before a terrorist act occurs. Look for people loading up vehicles with weaponry/ explosives, etc, and/or parking that vehicle somewhere, or people in military uniforms (who don't look right) approaching an installation or getting into a vehicle, or people who seem out of place standing by at a certain location as if waiting for something to happen.

What to do.... Remember to protect yourself first

DO NOT confront the person

DO NOT tamper with suspicious looking packages

DO NOT disturb suspicious object

If you suspect anything suspicious, you should be prepared to:

Give a description of the person(s): Gender, race, height, weight, age, clothing...

Mode of Transportation: Type, color, make, model...

Type of suspicious activity: Surveillance, elicitation, etc...

Location of Suspicious activity: Address, building, street...

Volk Field Air National Guard Base and Camp Williams

The origin of Volk Field and Camp Williams can be traced back to 1888 when the State Adjutant General, General Chandler Chapman, purchased a site for a rifle range and offered it to the state for training. In 1889, the State Legislature authorized the purchase of 600 acres for a permanent camp and rifle range for the Wisconsin National Guard. By 1903, it had expanded to over 800 acres and became a model training camp that was often visited by officials from other states. At the outbreak of World War I, the 32nd "Red Arrow" Division was expanded to 16,000 men and formed into a second brigade at the site.

The site was named Camp Williams in 1927 in honor of Lieutenant Colonel Charles R. Williams who was the Chief Quartermaster of the post from 1917 until his death in 1926.

In 1936 construction of the airfield began, however, it was August 1940 before the first hard surface runway was opened. During World War II, the airfield was outfitted with lights and numerous administrative and support facilities. The Department of Defense reorganization in 1947 formed the Wisconsin Army and Air National Guard (ARNG / ANG). At this time the 32nd Division moved its training to Fort McCoy and the Wisconsin ANG began annual training at Camp Williams. In 1949 the 148th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Duluth, Minnesota began using the airfield for its training.

During the Korean War and the remainder of the 1950s, units from Colorado, Indiana, Kansas, New York, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Missouri, Washington, D.C. and Wisconsin trained at the field. In 1954, the Federal Government leased the field from the State of Wisconsin for use as a Permanent Field Training Site (PFTS). That same year the Hardwood Air-to-Ground Gunnery Range opened near Finley, Wisconsin. The first jet aircraft landed on the air-field in 1955. In honor of First Lieutenant Jerome A. Volk, the first Wisconsin ANG pilot to be killed in the Korean War, the Wisconsin State Legislature renamed the PFTS to Volk Field in 1957. A small portion of the base remained as Camp Williams, housing multiple Army National Guard organizations over the years, as described below.

During the 1960s Volk Field was activated as a Dispersed Operating Base for the Active Duty Air Defense Mission from Duluth, Minnesota with over 200 personnel assigned to the base. In 1970 the unit was redesignated as Detachment 1, 87 Fighter Interceptor Squadron with a reporting chain through K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Michigan. The detachment was deactivated in 1974 and the Air National Guard assumed exclusive control of the base at that time.

In the 1980s Volk Field began year-round operations for training the Wisconsin ANG as well as units from all other services and some foreign countries.

Volk Field and Camp Williams remain two separate installations within a co-joined perimeter. Volk Field ANGB is physically the larger of the two, consisting of approximately 2,300 acres and 450+ full and part-time personnel in three separate units—the Combat Readiness Training Center (CRTC), the 128th Air Control Squadron (ACS), and the 126th Weather Flight.

Volk Field Namesake—FIRST LIEUTENANT JEROME A. VOLK March 17, 1925 – November 7, 1951

Lieutenant Jerome A. Volk was born March 17, 1925 in Harvey, North Dakota, the son of Alois and Esther Volk. The family moved to Milwaukee, Wisconsin and Jerome subsequently graduated from Rufus King High School in 1943.

Lieutenant Volk entered the Enlisted Reserve Corps, U.S. Army, on June 15, 1943 and began the Air Cadet Training Program seven days later. He successfully completed the program, graduated and received his commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Army Air Corps on December 22, 1943. During World War II, he flew P-51s and qualified for the American Campaign Medal. He was released from active duty on November 12, 1945 and transferred into the Reserve Officer Corps.

Lieutenant Volk joined the Wisconsin Air National Guard on January 12, 1949, and was assigned to the 126th Fighter Squadron in Milwaukee. He was promoted to First Lieutenant on August 24, 1949. During this period he also attended Marquette University in Milwaukee for three and a half years. The University awarded his degree posthumously in June of 1956 in recognition of his service and sacrifice.

On February 28, 1951, Lieutenant Volk was called to active duty with his squadron to serve with the U.S. Air Force. He was assigned to duty in the 35th Fighter Squadron in Korea where he was killed on November 7, 1951, while flying a mission in an F-80 "Shooting Star" jet fighter.

Lieutenant Volk's family included his wife Jeanne P., his parents, and a brother Donald A. Volk. They all lived in Milwaukee at that time. Unfortunately, even after all this time, relations with the North Korean government have not improved to the point that Lieutenant Volk's remains could be recovered and returned to his loved ones. The family would very much appreciate any assistance that could be provided in this respect.

On June 23, 1956, during the annual Governor's Day observances at Camp Williams, the National Guard rededicated the part of the facility that was used by the Air National Guard as Volk Field. In 1957, by Chapter 114, the Wisconsin Legislature provided, "...that portion of Camp Williams under lease to the Federal Government for the use of the Air National Guard shall, as long as so held, be known as Volk Field in memory of First Lieutenant Jerome A. Volk, the first Wisconsin Air National Guard pilot killed in combat in the Korean Conflict."*

On Veterans Day, 1989 a memorial plaque in honor of Lieutenant Volk was unveiled and dedicated in front of Volk Field Headquarters by the then Adjutant General, Major General Raymond A. Matera.

Combat Readiness Training Center

The Air National Guard Combat Readiness Training Center (CRTC) at Volk Field Air National Guard Base (ANGB), Wisconsin, is one of four CRTCs located in the United States. The others are located in Alpena, Michigan; Gulfport, Mississippi; and Savannah, Georgia. The CRTCs are funded by the National Guard Bureau (NGB) in Washington, D.C., and are directly under the command of the State Adjutant General. Though primarily tasked with supporting Air National Guard (ANG) units, the CRTCs provide training opportunities for all Department of Defense services and components. Besides the ANG, Volk Field regularly supports forces from the Army National Guard, Active Air Force, Air Force Reserves, the Marine Corps, and Naval Reserves. Nonmilitary users include federal, state and local First Responder agencies, the Civil Air Patrol, and youth organizations.

The mission of the CRTC is to provide a year-round training environment for ANG units to enhance their combat readiness. The CRTC allows training to be accomplished that isn't possible at the unit's home station. The facilities approximate a Forward Operating Location (FOL) and provide a realistic setting for the conduct of unit Operational Readiness Exercises and Inspections (OREs / ORIs). Additionally, the CRTC oversees operations and scheduling of the Hardwood Air-to-Ground Gunnery Range and over 11,200 square miles of military special use training airspace.

In the 1980s Volk Field began year-round operations for training the Wisconsin ANG as well as units from all other services and some foreign countries. Joint tactical training began in 1983 when the Wisconsin Department of Military Affairs hosted a series of Sentry Independence Composite Force Training exercises. New equipment and missions such as the Air Combat Maneuvering and Instrumentation System and Air Base Operability program were added by the end of the decade.

On June 13, 1990 the site was designated as an "ANG Combat Readiness Training Center." Volk Field played an important role during Desert Shield/Storm as an Aerial Port of Embarkation (APOE) for nearby Fort McCoy, supporting Army deployments to the Gulf War. It supported military and civilian aircraft movements with aircraft types including C -5, C-141, B-747, DC-10, L-1011 and DC-8. This resulted in the movement of passengers, 3,866 tons of cargo, and the upload of 2,410,795 pounds of fuel. This mission continues on with support for Operation Iraqi Freedom, Enduring Freedom, and New Dawn with over 1,400 movements supported. These missions have transported over 145,000 personnel and almost 50 million pounds of cargo to Southwest Asia. Several Air Force tests have been conducted at Volk Field over the years including the Airfield Mobile Lighting System, Runway Marker System, a five-year Department of Defense test of Camouflage, Concealment and Deception, F-15E, S, and K Operational Test and Evaluation (OT&E), and C-17 Rough Field OT&E.

Ready Norseman replaced the Sentry Independence exercises in 1993 and provided more opportunities for aircrews to practice dissimilar aircraft combat tactics and to increase their readiness skills. A number of regularly scheduled exercises including Northern Lightning, Patriot, Ramstein Rover, CASEx's, and Air Expeditionary Force deployment spin-ups continue to provide exceptional training to regional and national flying and Command and Control units.

The Readiness Safeguard program provided benchmark Ability to Survive and Operate training for over 20 years. This program shifted focus to the emerging Domestic Operations support mission, blending their unique understanding of military operations in a Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear, and Explosive (CBRNE) environment with the National Response Framework's focus on unified command and control between military and civil First Responders. This program was discontinued in 2013.

Volk Field's outstanding training environment was recognized by Joint Forces Command in 2010 with formal Certification as a Joint Training venue.

Modernization of Volk Field's facilities and equipment is an on-going process at the base. An $8 million ramp project was completed in 1993 and a new Radar Approach Control and Base Operations facility was opened in 1995. Other projects completed in the 90's included a fire training area, hot pit refueling system, upgraded dormitories, a motor vehicle maintenance garage and the 128 Air Control Squadron Headquarters. Volk Field's runway and airport lighting were completely replaced in 1998 and a new 232 bed hotel with an attached state-of-the art conference center was completed in 2002. A new Air Traffic Control tower was opened in 2003 and several using unit projects including a new Command Post (2004), a Squadron Operations Facility (2007), and a Communications facility (2010) were completed by the end of the first decade in the 21th Century. Major construction and improvement projects in the design phase include an expansion to the 128th Air Control Squadron, a new hangar facility, and an addition to the base's hotel and conference center.

The Commander of Volk Field Air National Guard Base is also the CRTC Commander and reports directly to the Assistant Adjutant General for Air in Wisconsin's Joint Force Headquarters. The Commander's primary staff consists of the Commander of the 128th Air Control Squadron, the CRTC Directors including those from Operations, Logistics, and Engineering, a Chief Enlisted Manager, and a First Sergeant. The annual economic impact of the base and its users averages $30+ million which includes payroll, construction, supplies, equipment and contracts.

Volk Field is entirely owned by the ANG. It consists of 2,336 acres adjacent to Interstate Highway 90/94, north of the Village of Camp Douglas. The single runway is oriented 09/27 and is 150 feet wide and 9,000 feet long with 1,000 foot overruns. The runway can accommodate all military aircraft and has both precision and non-precision navigational approaches along with tower and radar approach control services. Forty acres of aircraft parking space is available to support user requirements.

The air traffic control complex provides both visual and instrument flight rule services. Approach Control services extend from Volk Field to five civilian airports in the area.

Using unit facilities can accommodate 1000 personnel for training and include vehicle maintenance, fire department, squadron operations, aircraft maintenance, fuels, command post, a clinic, security control and armory, disaster control center and numerous hangars. Also available are a dining facility, small arms range, chapel, base exchange, laundry, and an all ranks club. The Wisconsin National Guard Museum as well as an array of static display aircraft are also located on the base. Recreational areas in the local area provide ample after-hours activities for personnel deployed to Volk Field.

Safety/Community Relations

www.volkfield.ang.af.mil.

Safety for using aircrews, range personnel, and the neighboring public is a prime concern at Volk Field and Hardwood Range. Flying safety and noise abatement restrictions include a stringent safety program, entry and exit limits to avoid civil airfields, restriction of use of afterburners, restrictive departure altitudes and restriction of overflight of wildlife refuge areas. Close control of all on range aircraft is maintained for safety purposes.

Citizens concerned about activities at the range or in the airspace managed by Volk Field are welcome to contact our operations personnel at 1-800-972-8673 to voice their concerns.

Additional information can also be found about the range or base on our public web site:

128 Air Control Squadron

The 128 Air Control Squadron (128 ACS), Wisconsin Air National Guard, has been based at Volk Field Air National Guard Base since October 1991. The unit is federally recognized and maintains a worldwide readiness deployment capability providing tactical air control, data links, and data transfer in the Theater Battle Management arena.

Mission

Worldwide Deployable Control and Reporting Center (CRC): The federal mission of the 128 ACS is to maintain and operate a Control and Reporting Center. The CRC is a mobile command, control, and communications radar element of the US Air Force Command and Control Enterprise. The CRC integrates a comprehensive air picture via multiple data links from air-, sea-, and land-based sensors, as well as from its surveillance and control radars. It performs decentralized command and control of joint operations by conducting threat warning, battle management, theater missile defense, weapons control, combat identification, and strategic communications.

State Mission: Provide the Governor of Wisconsin the capability for a highly mobile Command, Control, Computer, Communications, and Intelligence element, capable of supporting any contingency. This mission encompasses natural disaster relief, counter narcotics activities to local law enforcement agencies and support to State agencies during times of crisis.

Combat Readiness Training Center (CRTC) Mission: Enhances the CRTC capabilities by providing flying units with Command, Control, Communications, Computer and Intelligence support during inspections, exercises and annual training. On a daily basis the 128 ACS provides airspace management to Air National Guard and Reserve aircrews from seven surrounding states.

History

Early History and Activation: The 128 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron was initially activated in 1947 at General Billy Mitchell Field, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. In early 1960 the unit moved to a former air defense site in Cudahy, Wisconsin and began participation in major Air Force and Air National Guard joint exercises. In 1972, the unit returned to Billy Mitchell Field as a Control and Reporting Post. Shortly thereafter it was designated as a Forward Air Control Post-Heavy. In October 1991, the unit was transferred to Volk Field as the 128 Air Control Squadron and in 1995 it was designated a Control and Reporting Element

Organization

The unit is composed of the Commander and his staff, which include the Director of Operations, Chief of Maintenance and support elements. There are full-time employees and Traditional Guardsmen, who are all organized, trained, and equipped to perform their missions as directed by the Governor of the State of Wisconsin through the Adjutant General.

Facilities

The 128 ACS occupies six facilities on the Volk Field Combat Readiness Training Center. The Headquarters, Maintenance and Operations, are located in a new state of the art facility. Radar Maintenance is located in a building near The CRC also has Theater Deployable Commuthe radar while Vehicle Maintenance, Aerospace Ground Equipment and Material Control are collocated with Volk Field facilities sharing common resources.

Resources

The CRC consists of several separate subsystems all integrated to perform its various missions. The AN/TPS-75 Radar System is a mobile tactical radar system capable of providing 3-dimensional, 360 degree coverage out to 240NM. It provides a "real-time" radar airspace picture and data in support of the Joint Forces Air Component Commander (JFACC). The data from the TPS-75 is passed to the AN/ TYQ-23 Operations Module (OM) for processing and action by operators.

The OM is the heart of the CRC as it displays the information obtained from various sensors. It is a transportable, tailorable, and automated Command and Control (C2) battle management system capable of supporting worldwide contingency operations. It provides a versatile means of acquiring real-time and near-realtime (NRT) information from multiple air-, sea-, land-, and space-based sensors. It enables C2 of air and space forces throughout the spectrum of military operations, and collaterally provides joint and theater commanders with an accurate and reliable integrated battle space picture.

In addition to the major subsystems above, the CRC has numerous "commodity" items to enable all aspects of the mission to be met. Satellite communications consists of the AN/nications (TDC) which is a state-of-the-art, ground-to-ground communications infrastructure designed to transmit and receive voice, data, and video communications securely to or from wireless, satellite, or hard-wired sources. Additionally, the unit is assigned numerous heavy-duty vehicles, generators and equipment for remote area operations.

TSC-179 Ground Multi-Band Terminal (GMT) communications terminal. It is designed to operate in a communications jamming environment using a ground-mobile force control modem.

Economic Impact

The 128 Air Control Squadron contributes an economic impact on the local area of approximately $3.0 million annually.

Future Plans

Modernization and upgrade of equipment and technology continues to be a major objective of the unit. Additionally, new missions will deploy personnel throughout the world and be added to the existing list of countries the unit has already operated in and deployed to including Romania, Hungary, Canada, Colombia, Haiti, Italy, Norway, Panama, Portugal, Turkey, and locations in Southwest Asia.

Educational Benefits & Membership

If you are someone who is interested in the highly technological field of aircraft control, working with advanced electronic equipment, or getting experience with large vehicle maintenance and power generation the 128 Air Control Squadron is looking for you. In addition to forming new friendships and travel adventures there are free educational benefits available for members.

126 Weather Flight

The 126 Weather Flight (126 WF), Wisconsin Air National Guard, has been based at Volk Field Air National Guard Base since December Fixed). While 2010. The unit is federally recognized and maintains a worldwide readiness deployment capability providing tactical meteorological support to US Army Units.

MISSION

Federal Mission: Provide Tactical Meteorological Weather Support to U.S. Army Brigade Combat Teams and a Battlefield Surveillance Team. Maintain readiness to deploy worldwide for full spectrum operations. The 126 WF currently supports the following:

- ◆ 32nd Infantry Brigade Combat Team, WI NG
- ♦ 2/34 Infantry Brigade Combat Team, IA NG
- ♦ 33d Infantry Brigade Combat Team, IL NG
- ♦ 67th Battlefield Surveillance Brigade, NE NG

State Mission: Provide Tactical Meteorological Weather Support under the orders of the Governor of Wisconsin as directed by The Adjutant General in response to Joint Operations Centers request during State Directed Emergencies.

HISTORY

Early History and Activation: The 126th Utility Flight, Weather Station, was initially activated and federally recognized in 1947 at General Billy Mitchell Field, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. On 1 October 1965 the unit was redesignated as

126th Weather Flight (Mobile/ assigned to General Mitchell

Field, the unit's mission changed several times. From 1947-1981, the 126 WF provided general airfield weather station support. From 1981 - 1996 the unit was assigned to support the 32nd Separate Infantry Brigade of the Wisconsin National Guard. In 1997, the unit changed missions, and was reassigned to supporting various flying units in 8 different states. Finally, in 2006 the unit was reassigned to support three Infantry Brigade Combat Teams. In December 2010, the unit was transferred to Volk Field as the 126th Weather Flight. On 1 October 2012, the unit was assigned to support an additional Battlefield Surveillance Brigade.

> In military operations, weather is the first step in planning and the final determining factor in the execution of any mission"

Camp Douglas

Camp Douglas is 1 mile from Volk Field. Directions: After leaving East Gate, take the 1st right onto US-12&16. Turn left onto Castle Street. Turn left onto Douglas Street. At stop sign, turn right, stay right Murray/Main Street.

Camp Douglas began shortly after the Milwaukee Railroad crossed Juneau in the mid 1850's, and the location of the settlement was determined by the route of the tracks. The railroad required a lot of wood, first for construction it-self and then to fuel locomotives. The hills alongside the tracks were covered with oak, hickory, birch and hard maple that were excellent for fuel or construction. In the 1860's, James Douglas established a camp called "Douglas Camp", to provide wood for the locomotives. When the Western Wisconsin Railroad came through, it crossed tracks with the Milwau-kee Railroad and at that junction a store, telegraph office and depot were located there and it was called Douglas Camp Junction, the junctions was dropped and "Camp Douglas" evolved. Despite its proximity to the Wisconsin National Guard base at Camp Williams and Volk Field, Camp Douglas does not owe its name to the military. It began as a logging camp and not an army establishment.

Castle Rock Wayside

From Volk Field to Castle Rock Wayside: .4 miles. When leaving East Gate, take the 1st left onto County Road C Take 1st right to Castle Rock Wayside.

This rock was once the bottom of a glacial lake in which Castle Rock, the formation rising before you, was an island. Thousands of years of erosion by water, ice and wind created the surface features you see in this area.

Mill Bluff State Park

15819 Funnel Road Information: (608)-337-4775

Part of the Ice Age National Scientific Reserve. Amenities are: 21 Campsites, Picnic Area & Shelter, Hiking Trails, Swimming Pond (no lifeguards), Changing Stalls, Drinking Water, Firewood, Handicapped Accessible, Information Center, Ranger Station, Playground, Parking, Pit Toilets, no showers. This park is open Memorial Day through the end of September. No winter camping.

A vehicle admission sticker is required on all motor vehicles.

Stickers can be bought at the gate or in advance. You can buy an annual sticker, a daily sticker, or a one-hour sticker for admission. There is a camping fee.

Hiking Trails located at Mill Bluff State Park are Camel's Bluff Trail, a 1.25-mile hiking trail loop, Nature Trail, a 0.4-mile a self-guiding trail. In the mid-1930s, the Work Progress Administration (WPA) built 223 stone steps that lead to the top of Mill Bluff, where an observation deck on the north end offers an excellent view of the park and the surrounding area. This trail is Mill Bluff Summit.

Mill Bluff History

During the last ice age a tongue of ice dammed the Wisconsin River, causing the water to back up into Glacial Lake Wisconsin. It is estimated that the lake was about 60 to 80 feet deep in this area, so the taller bluffs became islands while the shorter ones would have been entirely underwater. For the 3000 years of the lake's existence waves eroded the edges of the bluffs, giving them their distinctive steep sides. Several of the bluffs bear 400-year-old petroglyphs shaped like bird tracks. There are ten named bluffs in the park. Mill Bluff, Bee Bluff, Camel Bluff, Cleopatra's Needle, Wildcat Bluff, Long Bluff, Ragged Rock, Round Bluff, Sugar Bowl Bluff, Devil's Monument and Bear Bluff.

Omaha Bike Trail

Runs 13 miles one way south from Camp Douglas to Elroy where it joins the Elroy-Sparta Trails and "400" State Trails. The Omaha Trail is paved much of the way and features a tunnel. Just east of the tunnel is a well-kept rest area with picnic tables, water and restrooms. Fees are daily or annual Juneau County bike sticker. Dismount and walk bikes through all tunnels.

Mid-Continent Railway Museum

North Freedom, WI 53951 (608)-522-4261 www.midcontinent.org Mid-Continent is an outdoor living history museum and operating railroad recreating, preserving, and interpreting the small town/shortline way of life from the "Golden Age of Railroading" spanning the years 1880 to 1916. Take a memorable, seven-mile, 50-minute round-trip ride on a former branch line of the Chicago & North Western Railway through the scenic Baraboo Hills. Passengers ride in restored steel coaches built in 1915. An authenticallyattired conductor will call "all aboard!" before the train leaves from an historic wooden depot built in 1894. Train fare includes admission to our Coach Shed filled with restored wooden passenger, freight cars and displays from the turn of the century. E8948 Diamond Hill Road

Wisconsin Big Cat Rescue & Educational Center

WISCONSIN DELLS

Population: 2,678.

Wisconsin Dells is 34 miles from Volk Field.

The city takes its name from the Dells of the Wisconsin River, a scenic, glacially formed gorge that features striking sandstone formations along the banks of the Wisconsin River. Together with the nearby village of Lake Delton, the city forms an area known as "the Dells", a popular Midwestern tourist destination.

Directions: After leaving the East Gate, turn left onto I-90 E/I-94 E, 32.2 miles. At exit 87, take ramp right for WI-13 North toward Wisconsin Dells, 1.3 miles. Turn right onto US-12 E/WI-23 W / CR-A S, 0.6 miles. Bear right onto US-12 / WI-23, 275 feet. Arrive Wisconsin Dells.

SAFE RIDE PROGRAM

The Tavern League of Wisconsin has a program called the SafeRide. As the name implies, the program gives intoxicated tavern customers a free, safe ride home if they need one. It's not a good idea to drive impaired. Our SafeRide program provides an alternative that is safe, and it is free. If you feel you're not able to drive responsibly, you just ask your bartender if they participate. If the bar participates, the bartender will call a cab. The cab will take you home at no charge.

The Volk Field Fitness Center is located in building 316. If you see any issues, please report them to our Services personnel at 608-427-1460.

BASIC RULES OF THE FITNESS CENTER

- 1. It is a privilege not a right to use this facility and if you cannot follow the rules then your privileges will be revoked.
- 2. Volk Field Fitness Center is open to members and spouses of the CRTC, 128 ACS, 126 WF and TDY members in support of Volk Field Air National Guard Base and its exercises 24 hours/day.
- 3. The facility is open to all DoD employees during the hours of 1000 -1400. Individuals must be over the age 16.
- 4. Dress code: Appropriate exercise clothing and athletic shoes are required for use of the Fitness Center. Shirts and shoes are to be worn at all times. Inappropriate clothing includes, but is not limited to sandals, flip-flops, work boots, jeans, suggestive clothing and clothing with offensive language and/or graphics. Members not wearing proper attire will be asked to change into appropriate exercise clothing or leave the facility.
- 5. The locker rooms are to be used to store shoes, clothes, bags, valuables, etc. They are not for overnight use. A lock for the lockers is strongly encouraged. Volk Field is not responsible for lost or stolen articles from locker rooms. No bags or backpacks are permitted on the fitness floor.
- 6. Participants are expected to be courteous of each other and staff. Courteous behavior includes, but is not limited to appropriate language and gestures.
- 7. Abuse of the equipment will not be tolerated. This includes dropping of dumbbells, free weights, and machine weights to fall in an uncontrolled manner.
- 8. 7Free weights must be returned to their correct locations as soon as you are finished with them. This includes: barbells and dumbbells on racks, all plates must be unloaded and plates returned to plate trees.
- 9. After using a piece of equipment ensure to wipe it down with a towel and disinfectant.
- 10. To help conserve energy we ask that you turn off all lights, TV's, radios and fans if you are the last one in the facility.
- 11. Additional fitness facilities are available on base, including USPFO (Bldg 1), 32d Brigade Headquarters (Bldg 2), and CSMS (Bldg 50). Be sure to follow the respective rules and procedures of each location.
